Tarifa Double Elimination

The double could still not be finished but some riders advanced pretty far...

Another day finished in Tarifa,
A lot happened in the Andalusia waters today – that's for sure.

Quick story:

Bunch of riders fought to get a better position and entered the double. As you will find in the ladder some managed to get a bit further but the biggest impression on the water we saw from young Belgian guy van Broeckhoven (F2) he eliminated some big names of the EFPT and could only be stopped by Antxon Otaegui (JP/NP). A lot of people on the beach couldn't believe it!!! This guy was rocking!!! As a lot of Belgian guys arrived to this event he also had his own crowd on the beach pushing him on. As mentioned Antxon ended the run but the show was impressing anyway!!!!

Completely unlucky was Andre Paskowski (Fanatic/North Sails) who lost against Egor Popretinsky (JP/NP). Andre sort of missed his heat after a misunderstanding with Egor... unbelievable to see something like this happen to the 110% focused and organized German.
Egor on the other hand also had to face the young Belgian rider who sent him straight back to the beach!!!

The wind dropped quite fast in the end just as the forecast was saying and so we still miss 2 (or 3) heats of the double!!!

The next run will be Kevin Mevissen (RRD) against Antxon Otaegui (JP/NP).
Forecast for tomorrow is amazing and we're looking forward for it, first to complete the double and then to start immediately another single!!!
